ANDY LEWIS

Photographer and Retoucher

New photographer Andy Lewis has broken cultural stereotypes by relocating from Britain to Australia for the relaxed lifestyle, and yet maintaining an exceptionally high level of precision in his technical photographic style.

Also an accomplished retoucher, Andy's formal photography training was conducted at the prestigious Falmouth College of Arts in Cornwall, and further developed with personal experimentation.. A highly motivated artist, Andy is always seeking new and innovative ways to capture his subjects.

After a stint in London assisting food and still life photographer Nick Carman, Andy was beginning to develop his own clientele amongst the large department stores in the UK, when he decided to relocate to Sydney in 2008.

With his skill for technical shooting, Andy's specialty lies in successfully working with liquids, food and products. As a new face in the Australian market, Andy is the future in beautiful precision-driven advertising imagery.
